Declares Hope of Cheaper Money Has Brought the Only Relief From Depression Which the Nation Has Experienced.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. - All advocates of inflation are urged by Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoms leader of the campaign for cheaper money, to quiet their clamor to permit full trial of President Rooseelt's credit expansion program.

Thomas, predicting the credit program would fail to lift and stabilize price levels, told newspaper men resterday he would talk over his wn proposal for a temporary ces sation of the inflation agitation with various farm leaders who have me to the capital to campaign for currency expansion. The Thomas statement came shortly after Senator Bulkley (Dem.), Ohio, a member of the Sente Banking Committee, had said owing a conference with Presiuing Treasury notes "within modst limits won't do any harm." FREDERICKTOWN, Mo., Sept. 77.—When four witnesses for the prosecution refused to testify, the State today nolle prossed the charge against former Sheriff C. O. Simmons, on trial on a charge of being an accessory to the robbery of the Security Bank here.

Sam Thomas of Kansas City, one of four men serving prison sentences for the robbery, stood on his constitutional rights, explaining that in the course of the robbery he had stolen an automobile. He held that any testimony he might give in the Sheriff's trial would tend to incriminate him on a charge of automobile theft. Officers said that at the time of his arrest he told them Simmons, then Sheriff, had encouraged the robbing of the bank.

His three companions, Angelo Stazzo, Pete Grego and Joe Modo, all of Kansas City, also announced they would refuse to testify.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Building.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27,-Officials of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation said today there had been considerable misundertasnding of a recent announcement that the corporation would offer to the public some $200,000,000 worth of municipal securities which it had municipal securities which it had agreed to buy in connection with its lending of money to municipalities for self-liquidating public works.

There was no intention, it was said, of throwing these securities on the market immediately; on the contrary, it was unlikely there would be any sales within the next year. Two reasons for this delay were pointed out: First, that some of the securities in question had not yet been delivered; second, that not yet been delivered; second, that practically all the contracts with municipalities carried a clause per-mitting them to repurchase their should within two years if they should find opportunity for more favorable financing.

The policy of the corporation, it was explained, was to take up bonds from the municipalities in blocks as the money for construc-tion was required, so that in many cases the entire issue which the corporation had agreed to purchase corporation had agreed to purchase would not be delivered for another six months or longer.

The bonds bear interest ranging from 4½ to 6 per cent and mature in 10, 20 or 30 years. They were bought under the powers of the Emergency Relief and Construction Act of 1982, for the purpose of aiding the construction of supposedly. ing the construction of supposedly self-liquidating works, such as wa-ter and sewer systems, toll bridges, docks and tunnels.

In connection with the announce-ment that the R. F. C. would even-tually dispose of these bonds, a cir-cular letter giving a list of them and offering further details on request, was sent to insurance companies and dealers in municipal bonds. Numerous requests for such a list, it was said, had been received, and the purpose of the let-ter was simply to acquaint pro-spective purchasers with the type of securities that would be avail-

The letter, officials explain dicated no new policy of the Gov-ernment, but was a step in the settled policy of liquidating the hold-ings of the R. F. C. when practica-ble and thereby lessening the bur-den on the Federal Treasury. There was no thought, it was added, of selling the bonds at a discount. They had been purchased after ap-proval by the bond experts and engineers of the corporation, and represented an investment in projects which it was believed would pay themselves out of debt.

The securities represent authorizations made by the R. F. C. before it was superseded in this phase of its work by the Public Works' Administration.

STRIKE AT BELLEVILLE TO GO TO NRA MEDIATION BOARD

Knapp-Monarch Co., Makers of Electrical Appliances, Em-Employs 700 Persons. A controversy between officials of the Knapp-Monarch Co. of Belleville and its union employes, which resulted yesterday in closing of the plant which manufactures electrical appliances, will be submitted today the Belleville NRA Mediation

The company employs about 700 persons, more than half of whom are members of one of three unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, according to Joseph E. Stockman, president of one of the organizations, the Federal Labor Union. The others are the Metal Polishers' Union and the In-ternational Association of Machin-

Stockman said the company has sheen operating both day and night shifts, the number of employes having almost doubled in recent months. Union members, in an ef-fort to hold an organization meeting for new employes, which both shifts might attend, asked a holiday yesterday which the company refused. They picketed the plant and no attempt was made to op-

The unions say there is no strike. A. S. Knapp, president of the company, says there is no lockout, that the unions have been recognized and that production will be re-sumed when workers return.

against officers of five men's clothing factories. Assistant Chief of Poing factories, Assistant Chief of Po-lice John Glassco, in charge of the strike detail, and other policemen, were filed in Circuit Judge Cal-aqua's court today by Luther Ely Smith, attorney for the Amalga-mated Clothing Workers' Union. The manufacturers obtained a restraining order restricting mem-bers of the union who are on strike to two pickets at each factory. Fol-lowing this, beginning Sept. 18, it is alleged, the company officers, Glassco and other police have con-Glassco and other police have conspired to block entrances of factories to prevent pickets from carrying out the activities approved by the restraining order.

The motions were filed against the Knickerbocker Clothing Co., Marx-Haas Korrekt Co., Epstein Pants Co., Alligator Co. and the Goldsmith Clothing Co.

The tenth member of the fleeing band of convicts was thought to be niding in the city or hearby. Sheriff Seized Near Prison.

One group of the escaping men seized Sheriff Neel and his car near the prison shortly after he had com-mitted to the penitentiary James Whitman for a one-to-10-year sen-tence for killing his father.

The prison's shirt factory was the scene of the beginning of the break for freedom. There, on the pre-tense that the machinery had brok-en down, the convicts summoned and forced him and the plant superintendent, G. H. Stevens, to accompany them. Seven of the 10 had pistols. The others were armed with clubs.

After holding a "council of war" in a ventilating tunnel, the desperadoes picked up bundles of clothes and marched through the prison, telling each guard they encoun-tered they were "taking these shirts out." Evans and Stevens were un-able to sound a warning because they were menaced by pistols con-cealed beneath the shirts.

When they reached the guard room, which forms a part of the prison wall, they slugged Fred Wellnitz into unconsciousness with pistols, meanwhile forcing Guy

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Active in Direction of Plain Dealer Since 1898 -Championed Public Improvements.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27.-Elbert H. Baker, 79 years old, chairman of the board of the Plain Dealer Publishing Co., died last night at Lakeside Hospital.

He had been ill about a week and underwent an abdominal operation last Friday.

He had been active in the direcion of the Cleveland Plain Dealer since 1898, after being associated with the Cleveland Leader and the Cleveland Herald.

Baker had been a director of the Associated Press since 1916, and a director of the American Newspa-per Publishers' Association from 1907 to 1924, serving as president from 1912 to 1914.

After becoming business manager of the Plain Dealer in 1898, he assumed complete direction as editor and publisher in 1906, and became president of the publishing com-pany in 1920. Three years ago he was made chairman of the board. Championed Improvements. Throughout his career Baker championed the cause of public im-provement in Cleveland, being known as a backer of a group plan of city buildings on "The Mall," and as originator of a plan under which Cleveland's famous Mayor, Tom L. Johnson, arbitrated a 10-year traction fight.

He is survived by his widow and four children—Mrs. Louise Hastings of Cleveland; Frank Smith Baker, joint owner with his father of the Morning and Sunday Ledger—and the News-Tribune of Tacoma, Wash.; Elbert Hall Baker Jr. and Alton Fletcher Baker, publisher of the Eugene (Ora), Guard the Eugene (Ore.) Guard.

He was born in Norwalk, O., July 25, 1854, a descendant of the eighth generation of Edward Baker, who came from England with Gov. Winthrop.
First Joh in Drug Store.

When he was 11 years old his family moved to Cleveland and his education, begun in Norwalk, was continued in the Cleveland public and high schools. When Baker was and high schools. When Baker was 16, his family moved to Kansas City. His first job was clerking in a drug store. When he was 19, he came to Cleveland and entered newspaper work as a bookkeeper for the old Cleveland Herald. He was then 23 years old.

He soon switched to the adver-tising department, and it was only a few years before he was offered a position by the Cleveland Leader. Then followed a period of work in St. Louis, where, in the '90s he was advertising manager of the Post-Dispatch. In May, 1898, he was invited to come to Cleveland as business manager of the Plain Dealer, which had been acquired by L. E. Holden.

One June 1, 1898, Baker and Charles E. Kennedy, then a member of the Leader staff, leased the property from Holden. Baker be-came business manager and Kennedy editorial director.

GERMAN AND AUSTRIAN BONDS IN SUITCASE HELD BY POLICE

St. Louis Authorities Investigating Ownership of Container Turned Over to Them by Man. Police are investigating the ownership of a suitcase containing German and Austrian bonds which were turne dover to them yesterday by a resident of the 3700 block of Oregon avenue.

The bonds, which are issues of 1917, 1922 and 1923, are believed to be of negligible value. Included are a 500,000,000-mark bond of the Ger-a 500,000,000-mark bond of the Ger-man Reichsbank, other large issues of the Reichsbank, Bank of Berlin and Schuldersreidung, and Austrian industrial and real estate bonds. The man who gave police the suitcase said it was left at his home by his brother, who has been gone since last May and not heard from since then. He said his brother had bought and sold bonds at various times.

We know the symptoms! That dull headache, pepless "all-in" feeling is enough to ruin any-one's disposition! Yet the cause is simple—easily corrected. Ten to one...

Mayors. City Attorneys and City Engineers Will Gather in Jefferson City to Draft Program.

A meeting of Mayors, City Attorneys and City Engineers of Missouri is to be called at Jefferson City for Oct. 7 to assist in formulating a program of public works for the State, as contemplated by the National Recommendations.

State, as contemplated by the Martinal Recovery Act.

This was announced today by Hugh Miller, State Engineer of the Federal Public Works Administration. Miller will participate in the preparation of the program, and will serve as a general guide for ap-will serve as a general guide for applications from the State and municipalities for Federal loans and grants.

Presidential regulations of the Public Works Administration provide that each State Advisory Board shall "promptly apply itself to formulation of an immediate State program of public works." In states like Missouri having no officially approved program heretofore, the State Advisory Board is directed to call meetings of State, municipal and other officers, permunicipal and other officers, per-sons and agencies able to help in while no such meetings have been called by the Missouri Advisory Board, Miller said the proposed gathering at Jefferson City serve the purpose. It will be sum-moned by Wallace Crossley, chair-man of the Missouri Relief and cointed by the Governor.

Tentative General Program.

Miller already has drawn up a tentative general program, amounting to $137,000,000. He intends, with the aid of the conference of officials and an advisory group of engineers and architects which he will name, to itemize this and make t more definite. So far, it is divided as follows: Loans and grants approved or officially applied for, $36,000,000. This represents estimated total costs, including a portion to be paid for with local funds. State building program (penal and eleemosynary institutions), $20,000,000. Former Gov. Caul-field, a member of the State Advisory Board, has suggested a $15,000,000 bond issue for the State's share of this. Additional expenditures on the State highway system, $10,000,-

Schools, $20,000,000. Municipal undertakings, $50,-

National forests, $1,000,000.

Possibilities for the City.

"The State Advisory Board," said
Miller, "has asked the City of St. Louis to submit its program on which it will ask loans or grants. A conference with Mayor Dick-mann will be held on this in the near future. St. Louis ought to get $20,000,000 of the Federal mony and Kansas City $10,000,000.

"Big projects of the type we would like to see undertaken here nclude such things as the northern river front plan, with its proposed airport in land reclaimed fr iver; the central river front and Third street highway scheme, the southern river front improvement, completion of the Municipal Auditorium and the 85-mile parkway that has been proposed for St. Louis County." President Brown of the Board of Public Service, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today he doubted that the city would be able to obtain more than $1,000,000 from the Government in public works loans and grants. The Law Department has held the city cannot pledge its credit on loans except through a bond issue. Officials are skeptical as to whether new bond issues could be passed if submitted to the voters. Grants may be obtained for 30 per cent of the cost of labor and materials, if the city can supply the balance of the money.

City Bond Item Balances.

The following balances are on hand in city bond items, but some of these funds will be required for work already contemplated: Opening and widening streets, $211,935; Union Station Plaza, $87,341; improving streets, $493,370; constructproving streets, $493,370; constructing and reconstructing sewers, $187,809; improving parks and playgrounds, $238,052; hospitals, $169,483; Municipal Auditorium, $149,912; eliminating grade crossings, $581,465; municipal airport, $55,249.

Mayor Dickmann, who has urged construction of the downtown Third construction of the downtown Third street highway with Federal aid, said today to a Post-Dispatch reporter that Harland Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, was about to submit a plan for carrying out that improvement. Brown said Bartholomew's scheme involves use of a bond revolving fund for acquiring right-of-way. This fund now has a balance of $12,396, and when it will be replenished through collection of benefit ished through collection of benefit taxes is problematical. The Gov-ernment will not pay for land. There has been discussion of asking the State to allot funds for this the State to allot funds for this work, but no conclusion has been reached. The city intends to submit an application for Federal funds for Third street, with the hope that some way may be found to furnish them.

Application will be made for a grant of $450,000 to $500,000 to help pay for a five-foot water main between the Stacy Park reservoir and the city. Estimated total cost is $1,500,000; the balance would come from Water Division funds. Application also will be made for a grant to complete the Arena and grant to complete the Arens and other portions of the Municipal AuWEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1933_ ent contract.

An informal request was made for $1,250,000 to complete the electric street lighting system, with the idea of repaying the Government in instalments from the savings on this form of lighting. Miller told the city the Government would not accept such an arrangement.

The city has obtained one grant—$104,000 to help pay for downtown sewers. It has applied for a second—$375,210 for aid in erecting variout hospital buildings.

Miller said the State Advisory Board had been handicaped in

It is certain that a new champion and runner-up will be declared in all three flights, because Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace of the Country Club the Pirates didn't start dropping them down to the man with the wobbly knees, just a few short seasons ago the greatest shorstop in jaseball. The Giants took that game, and the series. Vergez lost his appendix in Boston. Jackson took his place regularly. Still the Giants soared. The opposition never did get to bunting him down as they bunted down Rogers Hornsby, slow and tender-footed, when he tried to play third base.

Much Depends on Jackson. It may be different when the Senators storm into the Polo Grounds next Tuesday for the opening game of the world series. NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—The New Orleans Pelicans, champions of the Southern Association, yesterday swept forward to their first Dixie series title by turning in a third straight victory over San Antonio, Texas League champs, in Heinemann Park.

Dennis Galebouse of the Pels, facing the Missions the third time in six days, made it a shutout, 2 to 0, and became the undisputed local hero of the 1933 season.

He yielded only five scattered hits while his teammates were reaching Abe "Payday" Miller for nine safeties, good for runs in the second and fifth. Louis Berger, relief utility man, playing third base, drove in both of the Pel runs.

The six games drew a total attendance of 25,529, with gross receipts amounting to $30,470, it was announced today.

Equipoise Is Sought for Race At Fairmount

A three-cornered match race between C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, 1933 handicap champion, Winnoka, the Australian "wonder horse," and Gay World, winner of the Chicago Derby, for a purse of $25,000, is being sought by the Fairmount Jockey Club for Oct. 14, it became known here today.

Negotiations for the race were started when Rufe Naylor, handler of Winnoka recently wired the Fairmount management an offer to race his crack horse here in a special match race against the best, available competition, "Equipoise general Manager Robert S. Eddy immediately got in touch with Tome Healy, who handles Equipoise for Whitney. Healy has not made an answer to the proposition.

Eddy said that the purse of $25,000, in the event the race was held, would be divided in any way the horses' owners agreed upon-preferably winner take all.

Both Equipoise and Winooka are now at Havre de Grace track, Maryland, while Gay World is at Fairmount.

There are several factors that There are several factors that militate against the possibility of the race being held. One is that Winooka is a sprinter, while Equipoise like the distance. Another is recent advice from the East that Equipoise will run his last race before being retired, this Saturday. In the event that Equipoise is not obtained for the special race, the Fairmount management will try to bring Winooka here for a match race against Gay World for a purse

Cheap Insurance in Massachusetts

Following Armstrong disclosures in 1905, Massachusetts authorized savings banks to sell life insurance, thus avoiding sales costs; experiment has been successful; $90,-000,000 insurance in force, at average premium saving of 25 per cent; cash surrender granted after six months and lapse ratio far less than in private companies.

William L. Grossman in the Nation.

WENTY-SIX years ago, as the result of one of the most bitter and extended fights ever seen on Beacon Hill, Massapossible worlds would have started a new

The Armstrong Committee's investigation the fearful waste in the administration of life insurance. As a result of the investigation, Louis D. Brandeis had been retained as attorney by the New England policyholders of the Equitable Life Insurance Society. After a thorough survey he concluded that only radical changes in the fundamental principles of life insurance administration would achieve the desideratum of cheap insurance for persons of moderate means. The chief causes of high-priced life insurance were and have always been the elaborate machinery for investments and, still more important, selling expenses, especially the tremendous commissions paid to agents.

Before long Mr. Brandeis evolved a plan to diminish the expense involved in investment and salesmanship and to do away with the other evils inherent in selling insurance. The plan was simple enough in outline. Mutual savings banks, after complying with certain requirements to protect the persons to be insured, were to become insurers, aided and supervised by the commonwealth, and were to sell small life-insurance policies at actual cost without remuneration of any kind to selling agents. No personal solici-tation of business was to be permitted. Banks that did not actually become insurers might, if they chose (and over a hundred have already so chosen), act as over-the-counter agencies for the sale of policies no profit other than the increased business cidentally accrue to them.

The struggle lasted over six months, Labor mions favored the bill. The Massachusetts League for Savings Bank Life Insurance came into being. Mr. Brandeis spoke every few days. Petitions and thousands of letters poured in. The opposition meanwhile never let up; the lobby used every possible weapon, even going so far as to intimate that the whole thing was out-and-out socialism. But on June 26, 1907, the bill be law. Perhaps the last straw had been the appearance before the Legislature of Harvard's liberal president, Charles W. Eliot, to speak in favor of the bill.

Despite the forebodings of those selfish interests that had sought to prevent its adop-tion, the experiment has been eminently successful. The savings banks offer the cheapest life insurance in the United States, and although no person can take out more than $21,000 of such insurance—$1000 in each of the 21 banks which are permitted to issue policies—the system has over $90,000,000 of insurance in force. It is hard to understand how anyone who looked at the matter with-out prejudice could have failed to see that the savings banks would undersell private carriers by a large margin.

To begin with, the life-insurance agent is a highly skilled artist and commands a commission commansurate with his skill. Comission rates vary, but in repres per cent (some pay over 60 per cent) of the first annual premium and 5 per cent of the next nine annual premiums. In other words, approximately a full year's premium goes to agent who sells the policy. Besides, many companies maintain general sales agencies. Naturally, the commission and other sales costs are a charge on the person insured. Take away the commission and you deflate the premium. The savings-bank life-insurance system has taken away the commission by eliminating the agent, and its premiums have therefore of necessity smaller than those of private com

It required no expert, then, to predict that the new system would result in cheaper insurance. The savings banks in Massachusetts are fairly bursting with impressive staics. But one need only consult the standard manuals to see that the savings banks sell by a phenomenal margin the cheapest life insurance in the State. It would be arbitrary to select any particular company parison: but to say that the average difference between the cost of insurance in savings banks and in private companies is 25 per cent is to be more than generous to the private companies.

When we turn to that bugaboo of life-insurance statistics, lapsed policies, the dif-ference between the savings banks and private carriers assumes gigantic proportions. sured does not continue to pay premiums he is ordinarily entitled to receive a sum of ley from the insurance company varying with the number of years the policy has been in force and representing roughly so much of the premiums paid—and not re-turned in dividends—as is not needed to defray the company's expenses and to pay a proportionate part of the money needed by the company for death claims.

This "cash-surrender value," which constitutes an important attraction for selling agents to dwell upon, is payable under almost all life insurance policies, but generally with the express stipulation that it shall not accrue until after two or three years' (in a very few companies, one year's) premiums have been paid. This means that if the person insured, after paying premiums for 18 months, should lose his job or realize that he bought more insurance than he can possibly maintain and should have to discontinue the payments, he would lose all that he had paid in. This occurs more often than the companies care to talk about, and unfortunately is one of the points which the agents in their sales patter rarely discuss. In many cases such a lapse of a policy means great hardship to the impoverished policyholder, but, as the companies point out, it is in large part unavoidable.

But before paying any surrender sum, the company must naturally recover, in addition to other expenses, the tremendous expense incurred in selling the insurance. This exof the policy but accrues in a lump at the very beginning. The agent's original com-mission must be paid by the company, whether the policy later lapses or not. Ac-

BELATED LESSON. From the Philadelphia Record.

F RANCE, Britain and Italy are about to I sponsor a move for the "economic re-habilitation" of Austria as a preventive against Nazi influence spreading in that country. This attitude on the part of the war-time Allies shows a great advance in enlightenment since the Treaty of Versailles was written. The pity is that it took the rise of Hitler and the gravest danger of another European war to teach France, Brit-ain and Italy their lesson.

Had the Versailles Treaty not wrecked Germany and driven its staid middle class to follow anyone who promised a return to the old order, Hitler's alarming dictatorship would never have been possible. Now the Allies fear Austria may soon join Germany again. This time, they intend to prevent such an alliance by getting at the heart of the trouble—Austria's economic troubles, which are driving thousands toward Hitlerism.

values after only a few months' premiums had been paid, they would actually lose money on the transactions. Eliminate the ions, and the surrender value can ccrue almost immediately upon the issuance of a policy. The insured person may then rest secure, knowing that if at any time he cannot continue to pay, he can reover all the money which he has already paid except so much as actually represents the value of the insurance which he has enjoyed.

All this is obviously correct mathematcally, and the savings banks in Massachusetts have proved that it is also correct in rience. They grant surrender values after only six months' premiums have been paid, with the result that they have practically eliminated lapses. In 1931, the worst year the companies had so far known, the ratio of lapsed policies to newly issued poli-cies in the savings banks was 1.24 per cent. cies in the savings banks was 1.24 per cent. Now, the most popular type of life insurance for workmen and other persons of limited means has been weekly-premium, sometimes called "industrial," insurance; and by the report of the Commissioner of Insurance the lapse ratio, as computed above, on such policies for companies doing business in Massachusetts was in that year 75.12 per cent. chusetts was in that year 76.18 per cent. Over 7,000,000 poor devils had to discontinue their policies and take a dead loss. For their policies and take a dead loss. For ordinary policies the ratio was 35.61 per cent. In 1932, while the lapse ratio for the savings-bank policies rose only to 2.63 per cent, the ratio on industrial policies was 107.5 per cent—that is, the number of lapsed policies actually exceeded the number of newly issued policies. These figures, transcribed into units of human misery, strike home with a tragic intensity, and give some indication of the relief which Mr. Brandeis innovation, if more widely adopted, might effect.

savings-bank life insurance has brought light is that there are many thousands workmen with sufficient understanding and oresight to buy life insurance without exert salesmen to cram it, often in indiges pert salesmen to cram it, often in indigestibly large pieces, down their throats. Not, of course, that publicity has been altogether dispensed with. The system employs two "instructors" to speak to groups of workmen about the advantages of the insurance, but these instructors receive ng commissions of any sort and can hardly be called solicious. The criften who reckoned that no one tors. The critics who reckoned that no one would buy life insurance except under intense sales pressure underestimated the intelligence of the ordinary workman. As Secretary of State these qual ities are slowly coming to the surface. Hull's latest move is to select tentatively Ernest Gruening, his most hard-hitting critic on Cuba, as a member of the American delega-tion to the Pan-American Conference in Montevideo.

Gruening, editor of the liberal weekly, The Nation, last week called Hull's Cuban policy "mud-dling with a vengeance." He said that Ambassador Welles "comcated that Welles was "piqued" be-cause the De Cespedes Government, They Are Opposed to "Pork." which he helped to create, had

THE fight over the meat packace. This is a secret committee of three, working quietly behind the though carefully guarded rift in the Department of Agriculture. On one side are the department's liberals. They describe the prorawest deals private enterprise has tried to put over on the farmer. This side includes Secretary Wallace, hi :elf.

On the other side ar conservatives led by George Peek, a former associate of Barney Baruch, and ormer executive of the Moline Ploy Co. Peek understands the packers' point of view and is thoroughly honest in his convictions.

The friction has come to such a climax that during recent hearings on the packers' code, extraordinary steps were taken to see that no ink-ling of the rift leaked out to the Ordinarily, different members of the Agriculture Department ask questions orally at these hearings. But it was realized that the asking the bitterness of some members. So orders came down from Peek that questions were to be asked in writing. Little slips of paper were who was to read off the question without the name of the inquisitor being known

Then Peek, himself, came down watch the proceedings. Harmony was preserved.

Hundreds of Others Have Done the Same!

We have pictured here real homes of real people-people who appreciate the nicer things in life - people who know that comfort is worth its cost, and who do not deny themselves things to which they are reasonably entitled. These people stand ready to verify our findings and we know from actual research that their gas heating cost is not high. We know to the penny what their expenditures were.

Each year finds a larger army of comfort lovers protecting themselves from winter's fusilade of sleet and snow and dropping temperatures by installing gas heat.

Gas heat automatically maneuvers to meet weather changes. Should the temperature suddenly go into a tail spin you don't have to rush down to the cellar and furiously fire the furnace; not if you have gas heat, you don't.

Now how about your home? Is it ready, for cold weather? Winter will be here before you know it. Don't let it catch you unprepared. Now is the time to investigate gas home heating. It's reliable, it's healthful, it's inexpensive. One of our consultants will tell you how easy it is to bring your heating system up to date. Call CEntral 3800.

F RANCE, Britain and Italy are about to r sponsor a move for the "economic re-habilitation" of Austria as a preventive against Nazi influence spreading in that This attitude on the part of the Allies shows a great advance in enlightenment since the Treaty of Versailles was written. The pity is that it took the rise of Hitler and the gravest danger of another European war to teach France, Brit-

Germany and driven its staid middle class to follow anyone who promised a return to the old order, Hitler's alarming dictatorship would never have been possible. Now the Allies fear Austria may soon join Germany again. This time, they intend to prevent such an alliance by getting at the heart of the trouble—Austria's economic troubles, which are driving thousands tocordingly, if the companies paid surrender values after only a few months' premiums had been paid, they would actually lose money on the transactions. Eliminate the ommissions, and the surrender value can accrue almost immediately upon the issuance of a policy. The insured person may then rest secure, knowing that if at any time he cannot continue to pay, he can re-cover all the money which he has already paid except so much as actually rep the value of the insurance which he has

All this is obviously correct mathematically, and the savings banks in Massachusetts have proved that it is also correct in experience. They grant surrender values after only six months' premiums have been paid, with the result that they have practically eliminated lapses. In 1931, the worst year the companies had so far known, the ratio of lapsed policies to newly issued poli-cies in the savings banks was 1.24 per cent. Now, the most popular type of life insurance for workmen and other persons of limited means has been weekly-premium, sometimes called "industrial," insurance; and by the re-port of the Commissioner of Insurance the lapse ratio, as computed above, on such poli-cies for companies doing business in Massachusetts was in that year 76.18 per cent. Over 7,000,000 poor devils had a Over 7,000,000 poor devils had to discortheir policies and take a dead loss. ordinary policies the ratio was 35.61 per cent. In 1932, while the lapse ratio for the savings-bank policies rose only to 2.63 per cent, the ratio on industrial policies was 107.5 per cent-that is, the number of lapsed policies actually exceeded the number of newly issued policies. These figures, transcribed into units of human misery, strike home with a tragic intensity, and give some indication of the relief which Mr. Brandeis indication of the relief which Mr. Brandeis in the strike the strike the strike transcript in the innovation, if more widely adopted, might One of the most interesting truths which savings-bank life insurance has brought to light is that there are many thousands of workmen with sufficient understanding and foresight to buy life insurance without expert salesmen to cram it, often in indiges-tibly large pieces, down their throats. Not, of course, that publicity has been altogether dispensed with. The system employs two dispensed with. The system employs two "instructors" to speak to groups of work-men about the advantages of the insurance men about the advantages of the insurance commissions but these instructors receive no commissions of any sort and can hardly be called solici-The critics who reckoned that no one would buy life insurance except under in-tense sales pressure underestimated the intelligence of the ordinary workman. Schnitzer, its ormer secretary and a stockholder former secretary and a stockhelder. In one petition the company alleges Schnitzer and Erwin W. Grimm, who was its president, agreed to transactions by which the firm suffered a less. The other suit charges that Schnitzer filed a groundless receivership action against the company, a receiver being denied by the Court.

The company manufactures automobile tags, highway markers and other metal products. In several actions previously filed by Schnitzer he complained of Grimm's management as president.

When to Inflate? Now.

Said the Taxi Driver. Strikes and Problems. Sparks Flying.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

SENATOR who called upon A President Roosevelt to discuss inflation, to supply a few more dollars, after having created a terrific vacuum with NRA expenditures, etc., reports that the President said he was "waiting to do the inflating in the right way."

At least 50,000,000 Americans NOT luding the note-shaving crowd whose business is dealing in money, whose business is dealing in money, some of whom appear to have access to the President, believe that the "right way" to inflate would be to inflate NOW.

A philosophical New York taxicab driver turned to tell his fare bitter-ly "that would get your goat. Here I have been driving four hours without picking up a passenger and now a second one calls me and I can't take him. The taxicab driver "bawls out" the truck driver. The truck driver brutally crowds the little pushcart

And they all wonder why they don't amount to much in the total scheme of things. Gentlemen of high finance do not "bawl each other out" or crowd each other. They know better. That is why they are in high finance. As a rule they were not BORN there.

Strikes multiply. All tool makers and die makers in Detroit vote to strike. Bakery drivers, striking in Philadelphia, upset wagons, striking miners are marching to picket the Carnegie steel plant, with heavily armed police follow-ing and watching.

Otherwise, if he later bids spades or supports diamends, I will know we have duplication, and we can sign off short of slam. After all, my partner has at least three primary and secondary tricks as well as four hearts for me, so this hand should really be asfe at five-odd if we get that far in trying to eliminate leaers and cannot go beyond. If, over four diamonds, he bids four spades, then I try to sign off at five hearts. If his bid is five diamonds, I bid five hearts. Your partner must have three primary tricks entirely in the black suits; what secondary values can form part of his bid? If he has the time factor sufficiently under control in both of them you will reach a worth-while slam, dependent perhaps on a simple finesse. Otherwise, if he has shaded his values, the hand should be signed off short of slam. You, of course, can never make another constructive response after bidding your diamonds, but must revert to hearts whenever your partner bids anything else and pass any bid made by him in hearts. JE MY OPINION by MARTHA CARR

So many people have written you about loneliness and you have given each one, usually, some specific advice. I am 40 years old, annot afford to go car riding or shows and since my husband died I just do the housework and sit at home, sometimes a friend coming n. I know I don't exert myself see them; I'm just a lonely widow and do not know what to do to entertain myself.—LONELY.

"Lonely Widow" role. And time was, no doubt, when the "widow woman" of the neighborhood was booked upon with great pity (and sometimes contempt—they didn't exactly know why). Women cooked delicacles for her, men offered to help with the work and children spoke softly, so that the widow might not have to step out of this sheltered and comfortably lazy place.

That has all changed, you must That has all changed, you must know. Widows have the sympathy of their friends in their bereavement, just as others have sympathy in other trials. But a widow is now regarded as a human being and a responsible one, who, through her own efforts, must continue to make a place for herself—anywhere, anyhow she may elect. The cotton-wool wrapped widow will get some good old hard bumps now, if the weeps for years on somebody's geck. The person on whose neck he sheds this dampness usually has troubles enough of her own, so that she cannot carry along a professional leaner.

There is just one remedy for loneliness, and that is occupation. Try to think that life is not, or should know. Widows have the sympathy of their friends in their bereaveliness, and that is occupation. Try to think that life is not, or should not be, made up mostly of diversion. And do not worry because you have less diversion than others. Fight self-pity; it is an insidious plague. Specialize in some kind of hobby, if you haven't enough work, away from your wall working interests or working hours. And, above all, avoid people who, perhaps like yourself, love the "dolefuls."

Try to think that life is not, or should not be, made up mostly of diversion. And do not worry because you have less diversion than others. Fight self-pity; it is an insidious plague. And, above all, avoid the girls be natural instead of thinking it smart to be fast? A man knows this kind the minute he sees one, and he knows who haven't have a girl is just pretending. If you have your heart set on a gift of book-ends for some literary friend, one shop has an interesting collection which will make your choice quite simple. These have a bronze finish done in polychrome colors. The statuette theme predominates with polo players, pirates and famous figures of literature in graceful poses, as well as wise-look-ing owls on pedestal bases.

The collector of artificial fruit (and there are more of these con-noisseurs than the average person imagines) will be interested in some steel replicas of grapes, apples and pears that have come all the way from Persia. They look old and slightly battered and therefore are regarded as choice delicacies to place beside the modernistic ver-

One of those nervous persons who insists upon drumming his fingers on a table, had better beware of a good resounding drum table. Try a bit of tatooing on the immaculate white leather surface of a certain table that one smart shop displays and the offender probably will hear more than anticipated—in the cold tones of an infuriated hostess. The table is designed in the shape of a drum, with black cords suspended where a professional drummer would have them be.

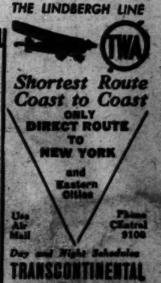

Remember how much you for-merly had to pay for silk-covered handkerchief boxes, lingeric cases and other fancy gift items for the boudoir? In spite of the hubbub about rising prices, things are dif-ferent in these lines now. -No. The old anti-suffragists used the smaller head size of women as proof of women's inmonity. But the elephant has a huge and and a brain the size of a walnut. aniel Webster, as pointed out by Dr. arry Hepner, psychologist, had a use head, but one of the smallest mains on record. A big head often asns a thick head—the skull bones and unusually thick. Anyhow the main does not fit tightly in the skull are is surrounded by water. And men's give heads may merely mean more after on their brains than is true of men. It surely does in some cases.

Bosh, no! Lovers think so, but the sexes is not the only source of happiness. As pointed out by certain dout recently by Avis D. Carloson, many a spinster wears herself emotionally thin with self-pity, thinking she has missed "life" because she man either making money or getting talked about favorably in society, politics, etc. But in my philosophy a life of service, whether or not you make money or raise a public fuss about yourself, is the most worthwhile thing to live for. I never get much "kick" out of anything else. There is also the study of science, music, art, literature, per leading and study—these are all as eternal sources of happiness as the human heart can know.

of Fitzgerald, Manuel Wiseman
and not the heartless person that the State charges. Wiseman particularly tried to show the jury that there was mitigation of guilt for
